

October 7-10, 2010

The A.K. Rice Institute for the Study of Social Systems
Celebrating its 40th Anniversary

Invites You To Join

Group Relations in 2010

A Symposium for Inquiry and Analysis of Society and its Institutions:
Using Group Relations to help understand and effectively lead in our tumultuous world

at

The Cenacle, Chicago Illinois

This Symposium seeks to revisit and celebrate Group Relations, a theoretical framework that synthesizes psychoanalytic and socio-technical systems thinking providing a powerful tool for experiencing and understanding how the unconscious operates on individuals within groups.

The symposium will include presentations by practitioners from around the world, keynotes by thought leaders and innovators, experiential events examining both the internal and external context of group relations and organizations that sponsor it, and an opportunity for participants to re connect, get inspired and take part in a global network of thoughtful, passionate advocates for this important and underutilized methodology.

Become a Presenter!

Submit a paper, discussion, or a proposal by downloading our RFP here:

<http://www.akriceinstitute.org/associations/8689/files/AKRISymposium10CFP.pdf>

Join us for this exciting and timely event